3. Identifying warning signs

The school recognises that individuals will react differently to stressful situations and become stressed by different situations and stimuli throughout their working lives. Because of this, it is important that staff understand the different factors that may cause themselves or their colleagues stress.

The following sources of stress can often be attributed to work:

- Overworking or undertaking work that does not match the employee's skills and abilities
- Fear of change and trying to cope with change, e.g. advancements in technology
- Insufficient workload or not being able to use skills
- Lack of job security
- Poor relationships with colleagues and a lack of involvement
- Harassment or bullying
- Crisis management
- Not having a long-term plan in place

The school recognises that home and personal lives can also prove stressful for staff; bereavement, separation, financial and family problems make people more vulnerable to stress at work. It is common that a combination of stress at home and work can make people particularly stressed.

The school will strive to identify and deal with symptoms of stress quickly in order to maintain a healthy workplace.

The school has a legal requirement to actively respond where any employee displays symptoms of work-related stress.

All members of staff will be aware of the warning signs that can indicate that a person may be having trouble managing stress.

All members of staff will look out for the following indicators when identifying stress in themselves or others:

Behavioural indicators

- Difficulty sleeping
- Changes in eating habits
- Increased smoking or drinking
- Isolation from friends and family

Physical indicators

- Tiredness
- Indigestion and nausea
- Headaches
- Aching muscles
- Heart palpitations

Mental indicators

- Indecisiveness
- Difficulty concentrating
- Memory loss
- Feelings of inadequacy
- Low self-esteem

Emotional indicators

- Anger or irritability
- Anxiety
- Hypersensitivity
- Feeling drained and lethargic

4. Actions to support staff

To positively impact levels of stress in the school, the headteacher and governing board will make changes to the whole school.

To help manage stress, the headteacher will:

- Lead by example and encourage staff to be open if they feel stressed, to take breaks and to have a full life outside of work.
- Make the most of team bonding; using INSET days to build relationships, as feeling comfortable amongst colleagues will make discussing stress easier.
- Assist with work and help to manage employees' workloads.
- Reach out to staff during difficult points in their personal lives, e.g. bereavement, allowing sufficient time off and supporting them when they return to work.

- Arrange a meeting with all members of staff in which the current working times and practices will be discussed.
- Research and implement an employee assistance programme relevant to the needs of all staff, regularly monitoring its effectiveness and impact on wellbeing.

To effectively address workload issues and support staff wellbeing, the headteacher, working with the SLT, will take the following actions:

- Measure staff wellbeing and identify workload issues by:
- Commissioning staff surveys and organising structured conversations about workload with staff.
- Arranging workshops and drawing together a summary of outcomes from staff surveys and questionnaires.
- Analysing staff diaries and identifying which members of staff are spending too much time on certain aspects of the job.
- Conducting impact graphing exercises to visually assess where workload issues lie and identify key areas of focus.
- Review the areas of workload that have been identified using an impact assessment matrix and producing an evaluation of the school's current workload to highlight the actions that will be taken.
- Address the workload issues that have been identified, e.g. by undertaking a data audit and developing an action plan.
- Implement a Staff Workload Charter to outline the commitment and expectations between the governing board, SLT and school staff.
- Evaluate the impact of the actions taken on a termly basis, measuring staff wellbeing and identifying new workload issues to address during the next term.

The headteacher will ensure that all changes proposed as a result of the actions outlined in 4.3 are communicated to all members of staff.

A mental health and wellbeing governor will be appointed by the governing board who will be responsible for monitoring the wellbeing of staff.

A wellbeing committee will also be appointed by the governing board to ensure all staff are supported in their roles and that actions are implemented to mitigate stress in the workplace.

All new members of staff will be provided with a comprehensive induction and their duties will be made clear.

The school will adopt a sickness plan which will promote a positive, caring strategy for staff who are returning to work following sick leave.

The governing board will be allocated funds for a wellbeing budget – all members of staff are welcome to make suggestions for the use of this fund. The headteacher will have the final say as to how the fund is spent.

The school will ensure wellbeing is promoted and stress is prevented through good management practices, including the following:

- Recruitment and selection procedures
- Clear job descriptions and person specifications to ensure the right candidates are recruited
- CPD procedures to ensure all members of staff have the necessary skills and abilities to undertake the duties required

5. Self-management

Staff can also make changes to avoid and prevent stress, as it is a problem that should be tackled and not ignored.

Staff should be prepared to speak to their colleagues and senior staff if they are feeling stressed in their personal lives or at work.

Staff are encouraged to take action to manage their own stress, these actions will include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Keeping active as a way of releasing emotional intensity and any negative feelings, exercise will also help to clear thoughts and deal with problems more calmly.
- Managing their workload and establishing and maintaining a healthy balance between work and life,

- Avoiding unhealthy habits, such as drinking and smoking.
- Taking advantage of the wellbeing initiatives and support offered by the school.

6. Reporting procedures

The following two senior members of staff will be designated as wellbeing officers; this is in the event that one of the wellbeing officers is the subject of the complaint:

- Sharon Reece
- Yvonne Pellington

If any member of staff wishes to raise a concern about wellbeing, one of the two wellbeing officers will be notified.

The wellbeing officer will provide the member of staff with information about the support that is available to them; this includes both within the school and outside sources. These resources include:

- Name of resource
- Name of resource

The wellbeing officer will treat all cases confidentially. Real names of staff will not be used when wellbeing officers are reporting to the headteacher.

In some cases, such as those that directly impact day-to-day activities, confidentiality will not be guaranteed. If this is the case, staff will be made aware of the situation.

The wellbeing officer in receipt of the complaint will investigate and report this to the headteacher.

The headteacher will decide whether any further action will be taken.

7. Response actions

Where problems with wellbeing arise, the necessary support and appropriate actions will be considered. This may include support from HR advisers and/or external services, e.g. occupational health.

The school will continue to support staff when external services are involved.

Support will be provided to staff who are experiencing challenging circumstances outside of the workplace. The school will direct staff to support, both internal and external, and consider a plan of work and duties that can be managed differently during challenging periods.

Support for staff who are experiencing challenging circumstances within the school will be provided following the procedures outlined in the Grievance Policy.

8. Monitoring and review

This policy will be reviewed annually by the governing board and the headteacher.

Any changes made to this policy will be communicated to all members of staff.

All members of staff are required to familiarise themselves with all processes and procedures outlined in this policy as part of their induction programme.

The next scheduled review date for this policy is February 2024.
